

FISHER INCLINES TO FAVOR LEASING OF ALASKAN COAL

Secretary of Interior Is Opposed to Government Operation.

IS NOW AT VALDEZ

Taken By Citizens' Committee to See Famous Key-stone Canyon.

VALDEZ, Alaska, Aug. 29.—Secretary of the Interior, Walter Fisher, reached here yesterday at noon and under an escort of a citizens' reception committee set out over the Fairbanks-Valdez military road to Keystone canyon, the scene a few years ago of a battle royal between rival railroad construction crews. Secretary Fisher asked the members of the committee for their opinions concerning the best method of handling the Alaska coal problem and discussed freely his ideas of the situation.

Fisher said that he regarded the coal lands, while safeguarding against a monopolistic control and excessive prices, as offering a choice between absolute government ownership and operation and a leasing system. The leasing system, he said, is in successful operation in the state-owned lands in Colorado and Montana.

Secretary Fisher said that he regarded the government operation of the mines as impracticable, unless coupled with government ownership and operation of the transportation lines. Government entry into the transportation field is a step to which no large part of the nation is opposed as yet, but he considered the prospect of early enactment of a leasing law better than that of a law embarking the government upon a course of railroad and mining operation.

Meantime the pressing need of Alaska is for early delivery of local coal at reasonable prices for their own domestic and industrial uses, and consequently the leasing plan appears to offer probability of speedier relief.

Fisher said, however, that he is not yet committed to that or any other solution, and his only serious difference was with those who, like the trustees of some memorials presented to him during his present tour of the north, declare themselves unalterably opposed to this or that plan instead of standing willing to examine with him the pros and cons of each method proposed.

The party left today on the revenue cutter Tahoma for Seward.

REACHES SEWARD.

SEWARD, Alaska, Aug. 29.—Secretary of the Interior, Fisher and party reached Seward on the revenue cutter Tahoma at 11 o'clock this morning. Gathered on the wharf to greet the secretary was a large crowd, every member of which bore a badge with the inscription:

"Allow us to mine our coal."

Fisher will speak here tonight and tomorrow will go as far as Ken Creek, the end of the Alaska Northern railway. Returning early in the afternoon he will depart immediately on the Tahoma for Skagway.

PANAMA BOOSTERS REACH SACRAMENTO

Merced County Has Delegation of 200 at State Fair.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 29.—The citizens of Sacramento and the directors of the state board of agriculture paid their respects today to visiting delegations from San Francisco and Merced counties and it was the biggest day of the fifty-eighth annual state fair.

Both delegations, which arrived at different times during the morning, were met at the Southern Pacific depot by a committee from the state board of agriculture and welcomed to the city. The Merced county visitors, more than 200 in number, were the first to arrive and, headed by their brass band, paraded the streets of the city.

The San Francisco delegation, consisting of 150 or more representatives of various civic organizations of the Bay city, and the boosters of the Panama-Pacific international exposition, arrived in the city shortly before noon. They were given a royal reception, to which the guests responded with various typical yells, all ending in "Sacramento." A number of world's fair boosting songs were sung by the party on the streets of the city and at the fair grounds.

The San Francisco and Merced delegations occupied reserved sections in the grandstand this afternoon and testified to their appreciation of the various events by frequent and hearty applause. Following is the San Francisco song that made a hit with the people that crowded the grandstands to capacity:

Sac-ra-men-to,
No one here to
See your fair.
Sac-ra-men-to,
Be as keen
As we are
To see your fair.

The approach of the San Franciscans to the agricultural building and the grandstand was announced by a uniformed herald who sounded the entry upon a bugle.

FOREST FIRES RAGE IN KERN

Millions in Timber Land Threatened

Blazing in Rock Springs District for Several Days.

MUSTERING RANGERS

Careless Campers Cause Destruction on Public and Private Land.

CHICKSTERFIELD COURTHOUSE, Va., Aug. 29.—An auburn-haired boy, talking swiftly but clearly, recounted on the witness stand today the surprise of both defense and prosecution in the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., for wife murder, that he had observed several blood spots along Middleman turnpike, where the crime occurred.

It had been presumed that no blood spots were seen except one near the place where Mrs. Beattie is supposed to have succumbed.

Alexander Robertson was the boy, and what he told the jury unexpectedly in response to a question from counsel for the defense entirely upset the plan of the prosecution to rest its case today. Prosecutor Wendenburg announced that it would be necessary for him to now call at least seven or eight witnesses to controvert the boy's testimony.

The direct examination by Prosecutor Wendenburg, when the latter was seeking to show where the boy found a certain yellow hairpin similar to that worn by Mrs. Beattie, Robertson referred to its distance from the "first blood spot."

"Where there two blood spots?" asked the counsel for the defense in apparent surprise.

The boy then told of a second blood spot and of several other smaller spots near it.

DID IT OZZE FROM CAR?

The revelation concerning the presence of more than one blood spot is in line with the contention of the defense that all blood on the road oozed from the car in which Beattie allegedly killed his wife. The prosecution's theory has been that the large blood spot in the road at the place where Mrs. Beattie is alleged to have been killed resulted from a murder committed outside the machine, and not in the car.

The prosecution has pointed out by witnesses that no blood was found on either running board of the car and that the dust pan underneath the car would have caught any blood that trickled through the front part of the machine from the seat, and that all the blood visible had hardened on the floor of the car just beneath the steering wheel.

Robertson was summoned as a witness by the prosecution only for the purpose of showing that he had found a hairpin, but his testimony on cross-examination indicated that he would be an important witness for the defense, and he may be called by that side.

In the meantime the prosecution has gone to the witness stand to show that many persons looked for other blood spots and found none.

The prosecution announced just before adjournment today that after the introduction of several witnesses along this line tomorrow it would end.

ACOSTA STARTS NEW REVOLUTION

Recruits Men in Vera Cruz and Overpowers Guard of Rurales.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—Proclaiming his intention of conducting a revolution, Colonel Acosta, a former officer of the Madero revolution, yesterday led a detachment following in Panuco in the northern part of Vera Cruz. According to dispatches received tonight by El Heraldo, he overpowered the small guard of rurales, recruited more men and resumed his march to Ozuama, the ranking town of the district.

Learning of his coming, the jefe politico of Ozuama is reported to have fled with his family for home. Another dispatch received by El Heraldo states that a band of Magonistas near Zacatecas was routed by a force of state guards, formerly Maderistas.

JIM JEFFRIES AVOIDS LOSING HIS LICENSE

Convinces Police Commission He Is Trying to Stop Gambling.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—James J. Jeffries, through his attorney, former United States Attorney General, today convinced the board of police commissioners that he was doing his utmost to stop gambling in his pool hall above his Spring street saloon. Complaint had been made in the commission of alleged gambling going on in the pool hall and the former champion was cited to answer before the commission.

Attorney Lawler told the board it was absolutely impossible to stop betting between individuals in a pool game, but that Jeffries had stopped all open betting in his place and would continue to do so. The board thought well of the argument and dismissed the charges.

IS TO BE HANGED AFTER FIVE YEARS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Superior Judge Lawlor today fixed the morning of September 10th for the execution of John Byrne for the murder of Policeman George O'Connell, November 16, 1908.

Byrne's appeal recently was denied by the Supreme Court. His case excited great interest at the time, inasmuch as the evidence against him was entirely circumstantial. Two masked robbers entered a south of Market street saloon at night and attempted to hold up the bartender. In the shooting that followed one of the robbers and Policeman O'Connell were killed. Byrne was arrested in a nearby saloon. The execution will take place at San Quentin.

LONE SURVIVOR OF INDIAN TRIBE CAUGHT IN NORTH

CHICO, Cal., Aug. 29.—The last known survivor of the Mill Creek and Deer Creek Indians, whose annihilation made hideous pages in the annals of early California, was captured today while attempting to steal meat from a slaughter house. Driven from the fastnesses of the Feather river country by forest fires, he was taken to the Oroville jail, starved beyond resistance, and followed by a crowd which collected at the sight of a man 60 years of age, unshaved and clad only in a sleeveless canvas shirt, faced with death in the hands of the sheriff.

Indians of surviving tribes were summoned but were unable to talk with him, and a number of deputy sheriffs offered him food. By way of experiment, a knife, fork and spoon were laid beside a tin plate loaded with potatoes and meat, but the savage took no notice of them, claving pieces of meat apart with his hands. He was shown firearms, but did not comprehend their use, but when a deputy sheriff held a cigarette to the mouth and by miming circled around his head, he demonstrated that he kept his hair short by "angling it."

His only possessions were a few deer sinews.

No one knows what to do with him, no charge having been placed against him.

The Deer Creek and Mill Creek Indians were exterminated, as tribes, in a series of battles in the early sixties, and it has been believed that none of the tribes survived.

LIST OF DEAD AT CHARLESTON 15

Cotton and Rice Crops May Have Been Almost Destroyed.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 29.—Additional reports from the country surrounding Charleston, received tonight bring the list of dead as a result of the terrible storm of Sunday night up to fifteen. The list is expected to be enlarged when reports are received from the more remote islands.

Charles Island, 22 miles from the mainland, is reported to be a complete under clear sky.

The streets are strewn with wreckage and uprooted trees. The water front is in many places dismantled. Reports have come in as yet to show light on the damage to crops in the region between Charleston and Savannah on the sea islands. It is feared, however, that the cotton and rice crops have been dealt a staggering blow.

Today Charleston began the process of recovery from the effects of the storm. The railway system resumed operation and the telephone system will be restored tomorrow.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 29.

Charleston is steadily recovering from the disastrous results of the hurricane. A vast amount of debris is being cleaned up from the streets. The debris from the train service is approaching the normal.

So far as can be ascertained, eleven lives were lost in Charleston county and a score or more persons were injured. The property damage amounts to many millions of dollars. Shipping has suffered but it is expected that the damage to fix the loss in dollars. Scores of launches broke away.

In the low country there is much suffering and danger of sickness. Heavy rains last night contributed to the height of water in streets and yards, many floors being inundated with loss to household effects.

The steamer Apache of the Clyde line which was reported in difficulties off the Carolina coast last night arrived here safely today.

NAVY SHIP DAMAGED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The storm which swept the South Atlantic coast Sunday night left its imprint on the navy. Six torpedo boats were wrecked from their moorings at the Charleston navy yard and tossed high upon the beach. It is reported that many buildings of the navy were wrecked but no lives lost. It is reported also that many of the wharves and sea walls were almost demolished.

No estimate of the damage can be made here because of the interrupted telegraphic service.

The commandant appealed for $20,000 emergency fund with which to make immediate repairs. Though this amount will not cover the loss sustained by the navy, acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop late today authorized an expenditure of $15,000 for the most urgent repairs.

The storm is being indicated by its play with the torpedo boats. These form a part of the reserve torpedo fleet and were strongly fastened to the steel like wharves of the inner harbor, but were picked up by the wind and swept ashore.

Made General Wood, chief of staff of the army, was notified tonight that sixty buildings at Fort Moultrie, Ga., were damaged by the storm.

MANY DISASTERS AT SEA.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 29.—The fury of the northeast storm which swept along the South Carolina and Georgia coast Sunday and yesterday was reflected in the number of marine casualties reported today at South Port.

A wireless early today from one of the Clyde liners to the revenue cutter Seminole here carried the latter ship expected to be lost at high tide.

Fortuna, lumber laden from Charleston to New York, reported dismantled and in a dangerous position. The cutter had not returned to South Port tonight.

Later the schooner Florence M. Penny Tupper to Baltimore was towed off Cape Fear by the tug Tugmentor with all head sails gone and leaking.

The schooner Charles H. Valentine was reported having gone ashore on Baldhead Island. She is reported to be in a dangerous position, but no reports have been received from her.

The Italian bark Tommaso Drago Bremen was towed in with malyard carried away and short of water.

ADMIRAL TOGO SAILS FOR HOME

Is Bidden a Tumultuous Farewell By People of Seattle.

SEATTLE, Aug. 29.—Amid the booming of cannon and the shrieking of whistles, Admiral Count Helldachiro Togo sailed aboard the Japanese liner Tamba Maru. He will reach Yokohama September 12, completing the tour around the world which he began when he sailed from King George V at London last June. His departure was the occasion for one of the noisiest demonstrations ever heard on the Seattle waterfront. The blowing of whistles continuing from the time the Tamba Maru left her berth until she and her convey of American cruisers disappeared toward the open sea.

MADERO'S PARTY ADOPTS A STRONG REFORM PROGRAM

Progressives Advocate Development of Nation's Resources.

HELP FOR INDIANS

Gustavo Madero Acts as Political Manager for His Brother.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—Weighed by the exercise of their constitutional, but hitherto unused, right to nominate candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency, delegates to the first national convention of the progressive party late tonight adopted a platform that says beneath its burden of reforms. Tomorrow it is expected the nominations will be made.

The first work done was in adopting the various planks of the platform. The first was accepted only after a long debate. It provides for the strict maintenance of the constitution of '67. The convention pledged its candidates to carry out the principles of anti-reaction and to work for a revision of the system of taxation, favoring the development of national resources and promises to combat monopoly and special privileges.

The party pledges its representatives to work for a reform of the judicial and legal systems. Improvement in the educational system of the country also is promised.

The party pledges its representatives to work for a reform of the judicial and legal systems. Improvement in the educational system of the country also is promised.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

It elected on this platform, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., may be expected to exercise a friendly interest in Central American affairs. One provision of the party's program is for an extension of the nation's friendly relations with foreign countries, especially those of Latin America. The provision concludes with the promise to direct prudently the policy of the government towards bringing about a union of the Central American republics.

Special attention is paid to the interests of the laboring element in one place which is to be improved. Laws moral, intellectual and material conditions of working men.

Establishment of manual training schools is promised. The Mexicanization of the personnel of the national railways is to be hastened and railway schools are to be established. Laws looking to proper indemnification of those injured while at work are promised. Pensions for disabled workmen also will be considered.

The Maya and Yaqui Indians are promised that those deported by the government will be returned by the nation to their homes of origin, so wish, and on public lands agricultural colonies will be established.

FORMING RULES.

The delegates did not begin the adoption of their platform until after 6 o'clock. Up to that time the day had been spent in listening to an address of welcome by Jesus Urzua, one of the prominent party leaders, and in the adoption of rules of order.

Since this is the first convention of the party, the delegates were forced to take time to formulate rules of order. It was expected that these rules would be chosen by simple majority and by an open vote as opposed to a secret ballot.

Francisco I. Madero, Jr., who undoubtedly will be the choice of the convention for President, was in the theater this morning for a few minutes but did not make his presence known.

The greater part of the day he passed in his home, availing himself from time to time of a telephone to the extent of transcribing in the convention.

GUSTAVO AS "BOSS."

The only member of the Madero family who is taking an active part in the convention is Gustavo, brother of the candidate, who was his representative in Washington during the early days of the revolution. As a member of the central committee he sat upon the stage beside Chairman Juan Sanchez Azcona and from time to time his actions indicated that he was manipulating an efficient, if new, political machine.

It is he who is largely responsible for the candidacy of Jose Pino Suarez for the vice presidency, in opposition to Francisco Vasquez Gomez. He and his friends claim to have corralled 75 per cent of the votes for Suarez.

Francisco, Blas Calderon and Alfredo Nobles Dominguez are the other candidates.

OREGON FOREST FIRE FIGHTING IS EXPENSIVE

Appropriations This Season Now Amount to $65,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—On account of the danger of a serious forest fire in Oregon, the season having been particularly dry, the forest service has added $20,000 to the appropriation made last year for the forest fire protection. Already the $25,000 appropriated early in the season and $20,000 given later, have been used up, as much outside help has been necessary to keep down incipient fires.

Associate Forester Walter said today that the destructive fires of last year taught the service valuable lessons in methods of protection. Numerous new trails have been built and telephone wires put up.

Express Rates Are Reduced in North of State

State Railroad Commission Effects Voluntary Lowering of Charges.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 29.—Upon formal request of the State Railroad Commission, the Wells Fargo Express Company has made a number of reductions in its rates in California, most of the reductions affecting the northern section of the state. The general result of these reductions has been to equalize the long and short haul charges so that the long haul from San Francisco to Siskiyou, for instance, is no longer cheaper than the shorter haul from Sacramento to Siskiyou county as has been the custom in the past. All told, about 300 reductions have been made, and that hereafter the interior cities will be able to compete with Los Angeles and San Francisco on a more equitable basis.

DID JACKSON DIE A NATURAL DEATH?

Defense Makes a Strong Fight to Save Bellboy From Execution.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—In the light of the fact that the electric chair, to save Paul Geidel from the electric chair, introduced today testimony tending to show that William H. Jackson died of heart disease and not as a result of chloroform applied by the 17-year-old boy.

Dr. Max E. Talmey, an expert witness for the defense, in answer to a hypothetical question declared he believed that the cause of death was heart failure due to degeneration of the heart.

On cross-examination, however, the doctor admitted that some of the conditions of Jackson's body pointed to strangulation.

Dr. Milton Albert Nobles of Philadelphia said that Jackson died of hemorrhage caused by a diseased condition of the arteries near the heart.

REPEAL OF BANKRUPTCY ACT WILL BE OPPOSED

American Bar Association Receives Report of Annual Committees.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—The results of a year's investigations by more than a dozen committees on the intricacies of various branches of law and legal procedure were presented tonight before the thirty-fourth session of the American Bar Association.

The convention opened earlier in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with the president's address delivered by Edgar H. Farrar of New Orleans. This was followed by the election of the general council, including one member from each state. The annual reports of the standing committees were presented tonight.

One of the speakers today was Baron Uchida, Japanese ambassador, who spoke on "The Teaching of Jurisprudence in Japan."

A recommendation that the American Bar Association oppose any attempt toward the repeal of the national bankruptcy act was made in the report of the committee on commercial law. The committee urged that to defeat the pending bill to repeal the bankruptcy act.

As to relative to wife and child desertion and to the probating in one state of wills made in another were recommended for endorsement by the committee on uniform state laws.

The report stated that the desertion act already has been passed in Washington, Kansas, Idaho, Nevada, Michigan and Wisconsin. It provides for punishment of deserters by imprisonment at hard labor, a portion of the proceeds of such labor to be devoted to the support of the deserted wife or children. The committee urged that the bar association endorse the principle of the act.

AGED WOMAN LOSES LIFE TRYING TO SAVE HER GRAND CHILDREN

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Aug. 29.—Mrs. Jennie Young was burned to death near here today when her home was destroyed. Three grand-children were rescued, severely burned, after Mrs. Young had lost her life trying to save them.

Takes Up Democratic War Cry

Wool Tariff Not Carelessly Prepared, Says the Speaker.

WHO DOES POLITICS?

Work of Session Just Closed Compared to Paynes Bill.

QUINCY, Ill., Aug. 29.—Champ Clark, Speaker of the national House of Representatives, before leaving here early today, replied emphatically to President Taft's speech of defiance to insurgent Republicans and Democrats, delivered at Hamilton, Mass., last Saturday.

In a signed interview, the Speaker accused the President of not stating facts. He said he did not reply for the insurgent Republicans, who "no doubt will take up the cudgels in their own behalf."

He declared, among other things, that if the tariff board is to be used as a pretext for delaying tariff revision downward, the Democrats will cut off its supplies.

"President Taft's speech at Hamilton, Mass., last Saturday," said Speaker Clark, "can only be described as a remarkable example of the history of the recent past is taken into consideration. He essayed the rather large 'stunt' of running amuck among both the Democrats and the insurgent Republicans in Congress, singling out Mr. Chairman Underwood and myself particularly as Democratic targets."

"I accept his onslaught as a badge of honor."

"The President said 'I am personal friends. He has done me many kindnesses and I have tried to repay them so far as opportunity has served. He is as a rule a most amiable gentleman, but at this time he seems to have been in a bad temper; because he sees defeat ahead of him in the face of the sixty-first and sixty-second Congresses in lining up almost unanimously in favor of reciprocity with Canada, he would have been the most thoroughly discredited and humiliated President since the days of Andrew Johnson.'"

"With all the influence and patronage of his great office, he could muster a majority of House Republicans for reciprocity in either the sixty-first or the sixty-second Congresses. After we pulled him out of the hole in the sixty-first Congress, he wrote (Continued on Page 2)

WILL NOT DEAL WITH FEDERATION

Illinois Central Official Reiterates Refusal to Treat With New Combine.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—W. L. Park, vice president of the Illinois Central railroad, tonight indicated that the officials of the road have determined not to deal with the federated shop employees, representatives of whom are now here from the south. In an official statement Park said:

"We have received a communication from the International union officials asking for a conference and have said to them that we will meet accredited representatives of organizations with whom we have contracts to discuss matters connected therewith."

Vice President Park refused to amplify the statement but representatives of the unions said the statement indicated a refusal to recognize the federation.

President McCreery of the federation, who spent most of the day conferring with representatives of the international union, said Park's statement was a reiteration of former expressions. He said:

"We have known that the company was willing to meet with the international officials of nine unions. Some of the officials upon whom power to act has been conferred by the international presidents have not reached here. I expect them tomorrow and by the following day expect negotiations will have reached a stage where we can make public the details of our conference."

Representatives of the union spent the day in secret conferences with the organization officials have met with any railroad officials.

SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK ASSAILS PRESIDENT TAFT

A letter of thanks to Mr. McCall of Massachusetts and the Republicans and not a word of thanks to the Democrats.

TAFT WAS REBUKED.
When we reviewed the performance of pulling him out of the hole in the sixty-second Congress, he did divide the thanks between Democrats and Republicans. That was after I and other Democrats had expressed our opinion with considerable force and baseness after his letter of thanks to Mr. McCall.

"The President says that we didn't play politics about reciprocity but that we did play politics about the tariff. The only politics we played was to keep faith with the people and redeem our promise we made in order to win the election in 1910, which is the best and noblest sort of politics. If any politics was played on reciprocity, the President himself played it—personal at that."

"He seems to think that we ought to have adjourned as soon as reciprocity was disposed of—that is, he seems to think that Congress is composed of a lot of school boys to be ordered about by him as head teacher; but he was forewarned both by Mr. Underwood and myself that if he called the extraordinary session we would take extraordinary measures and such other bills as the Democrats deemed advisable. He will not deny that statement."

"If we had done less than we did, we would not have been worthy of such a great proportion of public confidence as we now enjoy. We made the best record of constructive statesmanship made by any Congress in the same length of time in a generation and that fact is precisely what caused the President to assail the Democrats in Congress."

FOLLOWED HIS ADVICE.
"He had said the rules of the wool schedule in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill were too high and ought to be reduced. We reduced them. In the teeth of his Wyoming speech and other denials, he said that tariff schedule was too high and ought to be reduced, he vetoed our wool bill, which largely reduced the expense of the people by giving them much cheaper clothing and blankets. He vetoed it, thereby going over, boots and breeches, to the Standpatters. "We cheerfully meet him on that issue. We stand for the best interests of the masses; he stands for a handful of protected tariff bureau and by his veto enables them to continue to levy unjust and exorbitant tribute upon the consumers of the land. He appears to hope that the consumers will kiss his hand, which is the hand that smote them sorely."

"The President endeavors to convey the impression that Mr. Underwood and I advocated his tariff commission. We did no such thing. What Underwood and I did advocate and vote for was a board of experts to be governed by and made responsible to the House in general and the committee on ways and means in particular; because the House is charged by the constitution with the duty of originating revenue bills."

"We were never in favor of a tariff board or commission under the control of the President alone and personally to him. The congressional record will fully and clearly prove my contention."

NOT TARIFF EXPERTS.
"The President's tariff board is composed of able and well-informed men, in general, but I believe that my friend, Hon. William Howard Taft, served in Congress with him many years and rate his capacity high, but he is not a tariff expert. So far as I have been able to learn, the others are not experts."

"On the other hand, several members of the House, both Republican and Democrat, including Mr. Underwood and myself, have spent half a lifetime studying and debating the tariff. Many of us participated in debates on the McKinley bill; many of us participated in the Payne-Aldrich bill; many of us participated in the Payne-Aldrich-Smoot bill, which the President has declared is the best tariff bill ever passed, and which I confidently assert is the worst."

"The service of some House and Senate members even goes back to the McKinley bill, the Springer bill, the Mills bill and the Morrison bill. Then why should we wait for the verdict of the President's board of tariff non-experts?"

"It will be noted that while the President's conscience would not permit him to sign a bill which would reduce the rates of which he declared to be too high and in need of reduction, without recommendation from his board of non-experts he promptly signed the outrageous Payne-Aldrich-Smoot tariff bill without the consent, advice or action of any tariff board whatsoever."

HANN'S POSITION.
"That bill was so bad that in a house with a Republican majority we lacked only five votes of killing it by recommending it. That day twenty-four patriotic Republicans voted with four traitors, Republican and Democrat, among them Hon. J. R. Mann, the present Republican minority leader. I was privileged, as Democratic minority leader, to lead in that great and righteous fight, which will be a consolation to me so long as life lasts."

"It might as well be understood now as later that if the tariff board is to be used as a pretext for delaying tariff revision downward, as the President is now using it, instead of expediting genuine and salutary tariff legislation, its days will be few, for we will cut off its supplies. This board has already cost three or four hundred thousand dollars and no given to Congress information to aid in revising the tariff."

We would gladly receive information on the tariff from anybody possessing it, but we never did say and never will say that we, together with other members well informed on the subject, must wait until the President's board or any other board got ready to make recommendations.

PRESIDENT NO EXPERT.
"The President himself is a man of large general information, as well as a man of great ability, but certainly he is not enough of a tariff expert to justify him in vetoing tariff bills, which passed the House by majorities of more than two to one. It is not a financial or scientific statement to say that he possessed only the 'surface information' on the tariff, as Governor Dingley denominated it, which is possessed by every citizen, well informed in a general way."

"The President implies that he refused to sign the wool bill because it was introduced and rushed through without due consideration. Let's see. The caucus of Democratic members-elect to the sixty-second Congress met January 19 and selected the Democratic members of this committee on ways and means, making Mr. Underwood chairman. They personally and with their helpers at once began to assemble information on the wool schedule. The bill was reported to the House about the middle of April, a period of three months on the preparation of one schedule out of four, whereas the hasty tariff schedules began November 11 and the bill was reported to the House March 18th, a period of a little over four months, devoted to fourteen schedules. Any tyro in arithmetic knows that as devoted three months to one schedule and the fruit of the tariff bill devoted to the average only two-sevenths of one month to each schedule, we devoted ten and one-half times as much time to a schedule as did Brother Payne and his Republican conductors on the ways and means. Nevertheless and notwithstanding, the President signed the Payne-Aldrich-Smoot bill and vetoed ours."

CAREFULLY DEBATED.
"In this connection it should not be forgotten that when Mr. Underwood reported the wool bill, every line, paragraph and section was thrice debated and amended until the members discussed it all they wanted. Instead of being slapped together hastily without due consideration, it was one of the most thoroughly and carefully considered tariff bills ever presented to any President for his signature. It was must be that the President in his zeal to reform the broken lines of the Standpatters, forgot that all men are entitled to a square deal when he uttered this monstrous and preposterous sentence:

"The bills bear internal evidence of the fact that they rested on a basis of not tariff for revenue only but revenue for politics only."

"Really I do not see how he could find it in his heart to utter the foregoing words for, which there is no basis of fact in the Universe. "Never in the history of the government I venture to say, have important interests been dealt with in such a light-hearted way with such absolute ignorance of the effect of legislation and with such willingness to sacrifice business to political exigencies."

RECKLESS AND UNFAIR.
"That is as reckless and unfair a statement as has been put in type since Gutenberg invented movable type and is a personal reflection on the sense, honesty, integrity and patriotism of every man, Democrat or Republican who voted for Payne's bill. As such I resent it for my own sake, alone, but for all who voted as I did.
"That was a queer and suggestive picture for Democrats and reform Republicans to contemplate: the President making a Standpat speech at Hamilton, Mass., on the farm of a good stand-patter friend, Hon. Augustus Peabody Gardner, clanked on one side by Brother Gardner himself, and on the other by Gardner's renowned father-in-law, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, chief of protective tariff high binders. That was enough to make the angels weep."

"The President rushed in to create an issue. We picked up the glove flung into our face and the faces of the consumers of the land. We gladly accept his game of battle. We confidently believe that the people will endorse our cause and give us the victory, for we have right and truth and justice on our side."

WHEATVILLE RANCHER IS RELEASED ON BAIL
Domestic Troubles Are Said to Have Been Cause of Assault.

George H. Francis, a rancher of Wheatville, yesterday afternoon appeared before City Justice Graham and was arraigned on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He was informed of his rights, and the preliminary examination will be held September 18th. Francis was arrested on $500 bail. E. A. Wait of 430 Nielsen avenue swore to the complaint. He is the uncle of the defendant.
The trouble which terminated in the arrest of the Wheatville rancher is alleged to have taken place last Sunday afternoon at the home of Francis. Mr. and Mrs. Francis invited to the ranch and took the wife of the defendant on a fishing trip. When the party returned, Mrs. Francis attempted to enter the house, and it is alleged that Mrs. Francis, mother of the defendant, pushed Mrs. A. Wait away from the door, saying that she was a trouble-maker. Mrs. A. Wait was finally forced out of the porch, and she broke her arm in the fall.
When A. Wait said that his wife was having trouble, he went to the house, and according to his story he was attacked by Francis, who poked a gun under his nose and threatened to kill him. The complaining witness claims that the attack upon himself and his wife was due to jealousy on the part of the parents of the defendant. Mrs. Francis, wife of the defendant, is alleged to have informed A. Wait of her husband because she could not live with her mother-in-law.

NEW MANUAL IS OUT FOR SCHOOLS OF COUNTY

Agriculture Included as a Study Course in Two Grades.
Rules Changed for Grammar Graduation; Teachers Must Read.

The county school superintendent's office received yesterday the printed supplement to the manual for the year 1911-12 for distribution to the district teachers before the opening of the schools on the 11th of next month. The manual will interest teachers as well as pupils and parents, because of various innovations adopted by the county board of education. The adoption of new text books by the state board of education and changes in the course of study by the county board necessitated the supplement, displaying the 1909-08 manual only in the matters amended.

Teachers are especially reminded that the county board expects all to keep pace with educational progress, and to this end they are asked to report at all institutes what professional reading they have done during the year. Warning is given that inquiry will hereafter be made as to reading done by candidates for life diplomas. The manual names the books which teachers are recommended to read thoughtfully during the coming year.

A new course of study in agriculture is introduced for the coming year, the seventh and eighth grades to use the same work, namely, Hildgard's and Osterholt's Agriculture for Schools of the Pacific States, pages 1-164. After this year the eighth grade will take pages 165-410. To cover the 184 pages this year, the manual says that the class will need to make an average of five pages a week and experiments in addition. For the first week the amount covered may well be a little less than this, as the pupil does not yet know how to experiment.

The teacher's manual of instruction with experiments to be taught in connection with the text on agriculture has been delayed in transit and so directions for its use are not contained in the supplement. These will, however, be prepared and sent to the teachers before the opening of the term. The experiments given in the manual are considered an essential part of the course.

Teachers as well as pupils will be interested in the new rules for graduation from the grammar grades, based on six regular written examinations during the year; the grading of papers to be done by the teacher instead of the county board members as the practice has been. A report of the standings of all eighth grade pupils must be sent to the superintendent ten days after the examination.

The record of each eighth grade pupil will be kept in the county office at the end of the year. All candidates for graduation must take the six examinations and the subjects will be literature, history and civics, arithmetic, agriculture, language, spelling and word analysis, and school law relating to pupils.
The board may give a seventh and final examination, covering the work of the year, if for any reason it deems this advisable and a diploma may be refused the pupil who does not average 50 per cent on each subject examined, an average of 75 on the year's examination, or have the recommendation of the teacher for good work and deportment.

Examination dates are fixed as follows: October 29, 1911, December 1, January 19, 1912, March 1, April 19 and May 21. All examinations are to be held on the same day throughout the county, with no deviation by teacher from this rule. A special examination may be given to all pupils reported absent for cause from an examination conditionally upon the excuses having been approved by the board.

Yet another innovation for the pupils is the study of school law relating to them as governed by the regulations found on the pages noted in the manual. The warning is given that at each regular examination on question on this subject will be asked and that the pupils are expected to know all the regulations referred to on seven pages before the date of the first examination.
The seventh grade will omit physiology this year. Many changes have been made in the reading course of study, while in arithmetic additional instructions which a special test made by the board in April last showed to exist in the seventh and eighth grades especially in the fundamentals and in accuracy. Bookkeeping will be included in the second county examination.

LODI WINE GRAPE MEN TO GET $11 PER TON
West and Son Announce $10 Price With $1 Bonus for Hauling.

Eleven dollars a ton, or specifically, $10 a ton with dollar bonus for delivery at the winery, is the price realized this year by wine growers of the Lodi section, according to an announcement from George West and Son's manager at Lodi. No sliding scale is to be used this year, and the bonus is held out to keep growers from giving the best of their crops into the hands of commission men.
The grapes delivered must average twenty-three per cent of sugar or the growers will be paid only $9.50 for them.
This price is in accordance with reports on activity of local wine men, who have been out with guarantees of $10 per ton, or as much more as other wine makers will pay this season. It is somewhat better than the flat price of $10 per ton which has been named by some of the wine men here.

TAFT IN WYOMING.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 29.—President Taft will visit Cheyenne, Oct. 4th, the day following his stop in Denver. The President's train will reach Cheyenne early in the morning and will depart at noon for Laramie.

"OUTSIDERS" WILL ENTER NORMAL HERE AT OPENING

Fresno Junior College Will Begin Second Term on September 11.
Other California Cities Follow Example Set By Raisin Center.

That the Fresno normal school will meet all requirements asked by the state legislature is evidenced from the fact that fifty-eight have enrolled. All of these are from points outside of the city and this number does not include those who will no doubt enter from Fresno.

City School Superintendent McLane stated yesterday that he expects the enrollment to be at least 100 when the normal opens. This is a remarkable showing and speaks well for Fresno as an educational center. Additional evidence of this is obtained from the exceptional showing made by the Fresno Junior college, which enters upon its second term September 11th. Fresno holds the honor of having secured the first junior college in the state. This fall Los Angeles and possibly other California cities will follow the example set by Fresno and establish junior colleges.

Many of the graduates of the local high school will take advantage of the junior college and continue their studies at home for two years before entering one of the state universities. The junior colleges here is now recognized as a permanent institution and their enrollment this term will be larger than last year. The junior college idea was tried here as an experiment, and its success has resulted in other large cities following the example. With the junior college entering upon its second term with an increased enrollment and the normal school receiving twice as many students as was expected, Fresno's position as an educational center is more pronounced than ever before.

IMPORTANT MEETING IS HELD BY DANES

Danish Exposition Building Is Discussed, Mass Meeting in October.

At a meeting of the prominent Danes of this city Monday night it was decided to erect in the grounds of a Danish building in San Francisco for the exposition in 1915, and a committee was appointed to visit all the Danes in the country and call a general mass meeting to be held the latter part of October.
Similar meetings are being held all over the United States by the natives of Denmark, and it is thought very likely that the Danes will have a beautiful building in San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific exposition.
The subject was thoroughly discussed Monday at the meeting and it was finally decided to assist in raising money and doing everything possible to have the building erected in San Francisco by 1915.

Between now and the last of October the Danes of this county will be visited by members of the committee and will be asked to attend the big mass meeting in October.
Those at the meeting Monday night were A. Hasselbach, H. Graff, A. Bang, I. Tielman, Dr. Kjaerbye, L. Lauritzen, R. K. Madsen, H. Ahrensberg, R. Thorne and others.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE MAY HAVE CAUSED FLIGHT

Home Relations of E. A. Francis Said Not to Be Most Pleasant.

MODESTO, Aug. 29.—It is rumored here today that domestic difficulties may have been the cause of the disappearance of E. A. Francis. It has been noted by his many friends that for two or three months before his disappearance Francis had appeared rather morose and gave evidence that something was preying on his mind. It was also noted that his personal effects were intact with the exception of a revolver which he apparently carried with him on his trip to San Francisco.

KERN'S CITRUS BELT IS DOMAIN IN ITSELF

Report Just Made for U. C. Places Available Acreage at $250,000.

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 29.—There are 250,000 acres in the citrus belt of Kern county, according to a map report just completed by S. E. Knowlton, who is assistant to David Hirschfeld, horticultural commissioner for this county. The map was compiled at the request of the Agricultural Experiment Department of the University of California, which is making a map of the state displaying all of the land available for citrus culture, and the fact that so large an area is included in Kern county is a great surprise to the officials in charge of the work. When the large map is finally completed, Kern county will rank among the leaders in this industry.

The report accompanying the map tells of the progress in citrus fruit raising during the past year and designates on the map are the localities planted and the number of trees in each. The report shows that fifty carloads, or between 45,000 and 50,000 trees have been planted in this county; twenty-five carloads in the Edison country, seventeen at Jannino, two at Delano and three south and east of Edison.

JAILER FINDS FORGER TRUSTWORTHY YOUTH

Frank Minkler Ready to Testify for Prisoner Who Met Test.

VISALIA, Aug. 29.—William S. Coffey, alias James Crawford, was held in custody before the superior court this morning on two charges of forgery. He signed the name of ex-Mayor Orr to two checks, one for $35 and the other for $27. He escaped and later stole a suit of clothes in Fresno county for which he was incarcerated six months, being promptly arrested on the greater charge at the expiration of his sentence.

Jailer Frank Minkler of Fresno, who says he took a liking to the young man who seems to have the making in him of something better, was here today ready to testify in Coffey's behalf, but was not called.

Minkler says to test Coffey he gave him every apparent opportunity to escape while in the Fresno jail but he declined to violate the trust confided in him, neither would he touch liquor, which may be called to testify that, time is fixed for passing sentence on the young man, which may be next Monday.

NEW BUS LINE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 29.—So successful was the one bus line which was run last year by the board of education to bring children from outlying portions of the school district to the various schools in this city that it has been decided to extend the one route covered last year and in addition thereto establish a second line of the same character.

E. B. Sprague will continue to bring the children from the Sunny-side district and his route will be extended to cover the Zante district as well. Bert Gidley was awarded the contract for the Westfield territory.

As has been the case heretofore, the children will be brought to classes early in the morning, arriving at the schools shortly after 8 o'clock and the return trip will be made in the evening immediately following the dismissal of classes.

RAISE ASSESSMENT BY SEPARATE MOTION

Visalia Trustees Adopt This Method to Make Increase Legal.

VISALIA, Aug. 29.—The board of city trustees tonight made effective the 25 per cent increase in the city of the city of Visalia under consideration for several days.

To avoid the so-called "blanket" raise, which was declared illegal by two local attorneys, the board decided on the cumbersome process of individual raises. Upon the advice of City Attorney H. J. Miller, the board is taking each piece and parcel of property separately, making a motion in each case which is thereupon seconded and carried. The procedure requires some time and the job, commenced last night, was not completed until late tonight.

While there has been considerable objection on the part of property owners, it is generally conceded that this method of raising funds for the new fire engine is more economical than bonds in that the expenses of a special election are avoided, also the interest on the bonds.

About $675 will be raised in additional taxes, which sum will be expended in the purchase of the new steamer and additional fire equipment.

GRASS FIRE BURNS OVER 8 SECTIONS

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 29.—A grass fire on the Ardizzone ranch yesterday spread over eight sections before the entire force of employees on the place were able to overcome the blaze by back firing and plowing through its path.

An automobile which passed through the place is supposed to have started the fire, it having its origin from the side of the road at several points at once. The auto is supposed to have been shooting gasoline fire.

DEPUTY CLIMBS POLE AFTER WHEEL

Drawing straws to see who would have to climb a telegraph pole one mile out on Elm avenue to recover a bicycle which was suspended on the arm of the pole, Deputy Sheriff Sullivan lost, and performed the feat while Sheriff McSwain sat by and watched the deputy climb to the top of the pole and descend with the bike.

Sullivan refused to state how he performed the feat but he is willing to wager that he could not do it again. The bicycle was taken to the jail and an attempt is being made to locate the owner.

POLICEMEN BACK FROM VACATION

Vacations of the Fresno policemen have come to an end, and yesterday three officers returned to the city and watched the deputy climb to the top of the pole and descend with the bike.

The officers who returned to work yesterday were. Detective Charles Farnam, who spent his vacation in Long Beach, Patrolman Davis, who was at his ranch at Linton, and Patrolman Broad, who was camping at Big Creek, Patrolman Knight, who was acting detective during the absence of Farnam, has returned to the ranks after making "good" as a sleuth.

HANFORD WILL WORK "BOS" IN CHAIN GANG

Tramps Said to Have Gathered in Town in Large Numbers.

HANFORD, Aug. 29.—The instructions of the board of city trustees to City Marshal Frederick at the meeting last night were to re-establish the chain gang system. This is the outcome of a campaign against hobos who have infested the city park in unprecedented numbers of late. Chairman B. L. Barney believes in utilizing the available forces in a campaign against the weeds which are now high in the alleys and streets in some of the outlying parts of town, so advocates the recruiting of a chain gang from among the vagrants who spend their "leisure" hours basking on the grass in the park.

One of a pair of conspicuous characters—Bruno Villard by name—was given a six months suspended sentence by Justice Ferguson this forenoon and told to get out of town in fifteen minutes under fear of having to serve the half year in the county jail. Villard and his companion were arrested by Constables Bernstein and Gard yesterday when it was suspected that they had been carrying on an illicit trade in morphine. Villard had a quantity of the drug upon him when arrested and it is believed that he has been supplying a number of victims of the habit who have appeared more than usually "happy" of late. This could not be thoroughly substantiated but vagrancy charges will serve to rid the city of the pair at any rate.

TEACHERS ARE ENGAGED FOR SCIENCE COURSES

Cooking, Sewing and Manual Training for Porterville.

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 29.—After several weeks of search the members of the board of education have engaged instructors for the domestic science and manual training classes of the High and Grammar schools.

Miss Laura E. Keller, who received her training in the State Normal, will be given the charge of teaching domestic science in the High school, while Miss Edith M. Cooper, a graduate of Thorpe Polytechnic will serve in the same capacity for the Grammar grades.

Frank H. Hell, a graduate of the Los Angeles Polytechnic H. J. will have charge of the High school classes in manual training, and Harold Ward, a graduate of Stanford, will serve in the same capacity for the Grammar school.

Miss Helen Keech, who is also a graduate of Stanford, will have charge of the music and art classes of both the High school and Grammar school. It was hoped that these classes in the schools named would be kept separate, but a canvass of the available funds showed that for the present year at least, this will be impossible.

Report was made to the school board at their meeting last night, by the contractor who is constructing the new Grammar school building on the south side, who states that the domestic science and manual training rooms will be ready for occupancy with but little loss of time.

BAKERSFIELD BOY DEVELOPS RABIES

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 29.—In an effort to ward off an attack of rabies, Donald C. Wilbur, aged 13, son of G. M. Wilbur, was rushed to Los Angeles, where he will undergo the Pasteur treatment. The boy was bitten twelve days ago, but it was not until yesterday morning that he developed alarming symptoms. The animal which bit him was a stray cur which he had picked up and taken home the early part of the summer.

The dog was noticed to be sick about four weeks ago and finally became so bad that it became impossible for him to walk. Young Wilbur continued to feed and pet him, paying no attention to the scratches which he occasionally received.

LOTTERY TICKETS TURN OUT UNLUCKY

HANFORD, Aug. 29.—Henry Shepard, J. D. Wilson and Harry Yocum were fined in the city recorder's court this morning for having lottery tickets in their possession, the two former the city and Yocum having been fined for the same offense. They paid the sum of $20. They were caught in a raid made Saturday night in Chinatown. Two Chinamen arrested will appear to plead tomorrow. If Kohl, a Jap, pleaded guilty this morning and Jerry Burnett, a white man, has not shown up, if this be true it may be that he can be induced to bring his splendid California horse to the race meeting here a week before the Fresno meeting. Chah de Ora has a mark of 1:59 flat, made last November at Phoenix, Ariz., when he won a purse of $20,000 for the fastest exhibition mile.

WANT RECORD PACER FOR EXHIBITION

HANFORD, Aug. 29.—Local horse flesh admirers are planning to have W. G. Durfee bring his fast pacing stallion, Coha de Ora, here for exhibitions during the fair. It is understood that Durfee has closed with the Fresno fair managers and if this be true it may be that he can be induced to bring his splendid California horse to the race meeting here a week before the Fresno meeting. Chah de Ora has a mark of 1:59 flat, made last November at Phoenix, Ariz., when he won a purse of $20,000 for the fastest exhibition mile.

TO THE PEOPLE

President Taft has definitely adopted the course started by Hughes as governor of New York in making an appeal for popular support of his policies, especially those that have failed of approval by the legislature. It is an innovation that comes as a shock to many conservative people. They dislike what they consider a lack of dignity on the part of the official head of the nation or state. They foresee the partisan squabble. They dread a sinking of the official in the partisan leader.

This is not in accordance with old ideas. True, the President is empowered to recommend measures to Congress, but he has been expected to make speeches for them only through others. Even Roosevelt, fond as he is of appearing in public, boosted his policies through the addresses of his party friends.

But we are now definitely substituting the people for Congress and the legislatures as lawmakers. So the executives, instead of sending messages to the representative bodies, will make speeches directly to the public. It is more simple than the habit of printing unspoken addresses in the congressional record for popular consumption. It appeals more directly to popular good sense.

While it is true that in some cases Presidents and Governors may lose in dignity by engaging in partisan controversy, this will not occur often with men worthy of filling these positions. The innovation will merely make the choosing of these officials a matter of more zealous care by the voters.

CHEAP PRESS WORK

Some suggestion was made in this column, recently, of the benefit to be derived from throwing the searchlight of publicity upon the papacy. An inquiry candid and impartial in its treatment of the forces at play within the pontifical government, with its wonderful hierarchy and well developed civil service would, it was thought, be of service to all Christians, Catholic and non-Catholic, as bringing the light of day without either reverence or too much reverence to the political workings at once very human and very powerful in their influence upon lives of worshippers.

If any such attempt was needed as a horrible example of how not to do it, none better could have been devised than the article on the Papacy by Vance Thompson in a current monthly. Thompson has there in internal evidence in his article, been to Rome, been present at a papal audience, and gives some clever expression to the feelings that he experienced in watching the visit of pilgrims from all over the world to the Holy Father. He also has accumulated a few of the well-known facts about the life of Pius X and adds a dash of the picturesque by forecasting the death of the Pope before the end of a year.

The gist of the article, however, is a conventional boost of Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, for the pontificate to succeed Pius. This, there is evidence, he does for the conventional reason that the obliging cardinal has accommodated the writer by giving him the desired entries to the Vatican. To repay this debt, Del Val's abilities are lauded in true press agent style, all the prominent candidates for the papal throne are abused, or otherwise eliminated from the race, and the impression is sought to be given that Del Val is the only prince of the church who can save its prestige.

The particular animus of the article is directed against Cardinal Rampolla, who was selected to the papacy before Pius X and would have ascended the throne had not Austria vetoed his election. Rampolla is recognized as the diplomatist of Leo XIII, so the latter is denounced as an unsuccessful pope. Then, to follow out another theory, the reign of Pius is set down as a failure. And to crown all, Merry del Val is the man of the hour.

This is not good luck-making of a creative kind. It is just cheap yellow journalism sensationalism, and unworthy of the magazine that prints it.

FAMILY DESERTION

The annual legislative report to the American Bar Association falls to include California among the states having adopted laws making desertion of wife and child a felony. This is possibly because our statute, passed by the last legislature, does not specifically copy the "uniform state laws" proposal of the bar association. But in any case we have such a law and it is being enforced with commendable vigor in this and other parts of the state whatever offenses are called to the attention of the authorities.

It is regrettable that such an artificial bolstering to one of the strongest instincts of human nature should be necessary. The frequency of the offense seems to add one more fact to the showing that modern society is rearranging its lines, causing husbands and fathers to feel less the responsibilities that should bind them. Marriage is no easier than it always has been and is if anything less frequent. Divorce laws cannot be blamed, for it is the husbands who fail to get divorces against whom the law is aimed. The cause must be found in a combination of social conditions which makes the maintenance of family relations once contracted less irksome than ever before.

Of course we do not know from statistics that wife and child desertion is more frequent than it has been in the past, for no figures on the subject are available. But many things indicate that this is a growing evil and that the laws spreading from state to state are badly needed.

They will probably prove very effective as well. Though they do not go to the seat of the evil and stop the tendency toward family desertion, they will at least raise a warning sign to many much not lightly to enter into matrimony. And far better no marriages at all than a scattered wreckage of homes.

Reports indicate that the forests of Oregon are being better managed this summer than before, preventing destruction of timber and water shed protection by fires. A year ago, fires seemed about to wipe out the greater part of the timber in the Northwest. This year the rangers have kept the destruction down to a nominal point.

Reports from Mexico are that the politicians there are rapidly acquiring American cleverness. They control conventions by means of a "machine" and are run by a "boss."

WORKS WILL SUPPORT RECALL AMENDMENT

Proposal as a Whole Good in Spite of Judiciary Feature.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—Senator John D. Works who in a letter published last winter declared the proposed judiciary recall as "reform gone mad," confirmed today a statement credited to him that he would vote for the recall amendment at the coming special election, although it applies also to judges.

"I am still constitutionally opposed to the application of the recall of the judiciary," said the senator, "but I favor it in connection with other state officers. The judiciary and other public officers are included in the one amendment. Therefore I cannot vote for the recall of one without voting for the recall of both, and so I will vote for both."

LATE PEARS WILL BE ON MARKET SOON

The first of fall and winter pears will shortly appear to be shipped East according to the California Fruit Distributors, says the Sacramento Bee. These pears will come for the most part from the Santa Clara valley and around the Monterey Bay.

At the present time pear prices are being offered for Bartlett's but a little more time is reported to the market today. It is probable that a slight improvement will be shown shortly.

Most of the pears now being shipped are from Suisun and Placer counties. These are Bartlett's. The most popular fall and winter varieties are Winter Nellie, Buena Hardy, Chagreau and De Corme. The last is the latest and brings a better price than any other variety. Half boxes have brought as high as $2.50.

Yesterday ninety-eight cars of fruit were shipped from California against 185 for the same day a year ago. The assortment was as follows: Paches, 5 3-4 cars; plums, 7 cars; pears, 14 cars; grapes, 71 3-4 cars.

FORTY-NINERS WILL DISBAND

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The last of the "forty-niners" will say farewell next month. Because of the age of its members the organization will disband.

The surviving handful of old men, who in their youth endured the hardships of the long journey over plains, mountains or the sea voyage by sailing vessel around Cape Horn, to reach the gold fields of California, will meet at Evanston on September 14th to disband their organization. There were 150 of the "forty-niners" when they formed the Western Association of California Pioneers in 1890. Now there are only eleven left to attend the final gathering. One of those who will attend will come from as far as Kansas.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Robert G. Fowler of Los Angeles is announced tonight as the first formal entrant in the coast-to-coast airplane flight between Los Angeles and New York. The flight is expected to start from San Francisco on Sunday, September 1st. His route calls for a crossing of the Rockies between Laramie and Cheyenne, Wyo.

"BABY MINE" IS MARVEL OF MIRTH AND OF SWIFT ACTION

Audience Whoops and Howls at Fast and Furious Fun of Comedy.

Splendid Cast Adds Much to Production of Mayo Success.

"Baby Mine" is a marvel of mirth and swift action. It is not a comedy of a laugh a minute, nor yet a play of a thousand laughs. It is just one big single, that occasionally grows stormy and finally hysterical. The symptoms of the audience at the Barton last night included a perfect example of progressive hilarity. Little titlers first ran around the house, eloquent of a large amount of humor in a comedy until they found judgment in the gallery and broke out in the form of whoops and whistles. From this center of infection, the noise spread, until before the last curtain fell (only to bob up again in response to numerous calls) even the puerile and the decorous boxes were whooping in chorus with the gallery god. Three healthy infants on the stage all at once were no match for the howling audience.

The comedy is all for fun. Little features like the denouement of the plot and all that follow in the last scene carries away that he has had a laugh of a lifetime. The fun of all the other funny comedies one has seen pales, possibly through the proximity of this big scream.

This success of Miss Mayo would stand alone with any sort of a case, as attested by the number of "Baby Mine" comedies on the road now. But Fresno was fortunate enough to secure the original New York cast—something not so very often possible—and it was a show worth seeing. The lines are funny themselves but a truly vast amount of clever business worked in with them gave one the impression that Miss Mayo succeeded only in having honors with the producers and a more than competent cast.

The play was conceived after Miss Mayo had read a news item stating that many wives take advantage of absences of their husbands to adopt babies, which they foist off as their own. Using this as a base she worked out complications, coupled with a swift and sure action, that makes it all a marvel of fast.

An attested by a system of individual curtain calls, Miss Marjorie Cortland as the fake mother, and Walter Jones, in the role of the natural friend who was picked on to do all the work, starred. Ernest Glenning as the husband, and Agnes Delane, the wife of the mutual friend, who filled the other leading roles, were both splendid, and perhaps the distinctions made by the audience were a bit invidious, after all. However, Miss Cortland and Jones made an admirable team. The former is petite, pretty, an embodiment of youthful vivacity, and an actress of exceptional ability. She captivated from the first her seat on the stage. In Jones, the audience found an actor of parts, the note of whose clever work runs through the whole piece as its most laudable, its clearest and freshest strain.

TAFT URGES DONATIONS TO HAMPTON SCHOOL

Says Men of Wealth Should Assist in Education of the Negro.

BEVERLY, Mass., Aug. 29.—Speaking in behalf of the Indian and negro industrial school at Hampton, Va., of which he is a trustee, President Taft today urged that such institutions must be given money and at the failure of the nation's millionaires to come to their rescue with contributions.

In the graduation of Booker Washington the President said, Hampton has done enough to entitle it to the gratitude of the country.

"Whether generosity and candor," said the President, "with reference to Southern education and the education of the negro, have had, of course, their fruits and I don't want in any way to diminish the desire of those who wish to give. The negro is a citizen of the South, a very important part of the South, and the negro therefore ought to come and is coming more and more under the guardianship of the South."

DOUBLE FLASH LIGHTS ON THE PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Because of the wreck of the Santa Rosa which broke up on Point Arguello, July 7, all single flash lights on the Pacific coast are to be changed to double flash lights. This is better with regard to the possibility of error such as the mistaking of a light house flash for a railroad headlight as it was testified, was done by the Santa Rosa's wheelman.

The Point Arguello light is the first to be changed, and Lieutenant Commander W. A. Moffett in charge of light house service on this coast, said today that he expects its new lanterns to arrive from the east before the end of the week.

STENOGRAPHERS MEET. BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Twenty-two members of the National Association of Shorthand Writers' Association met in session here, entered the contests for the Adams trophy for accuracy today. Tomorrow there will be a second contest for the title of champion shorthand writer of America. The winners will be crowned champions. In his annual address, President W. T. Tift of Los Angeles commended the New York certified stenographers law, which provides for the issuance of certificates to competent court reporters.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS RAISIN GROWERS ASSOCIATION NOT TO BE IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE

There is now, we believe, no organization of any kind among the raisin growers of this state, which is certainly true for the raisin growers. It is a matter, however, of historical interest, and possibly of importance on a bearing on questions of future organization, to know that the supreme court of this state has just held that the organization which the raisin growers did make was not an organization in restraint of trade within the meaning of the law.

The Raisin Association was an organization which sought to include in its membership all raisin growers in California. It entered into contracts with its members whereby they contracted to deliver to the association their entire crop of raisins to be sold and accounted for by the association. The avowed object of the association was to obtain higher prices for raising than the growers unorganized would be able to obtain individually, and the method of procedure was to gather as nearly as possible the entire raisin crop of California into the hands of the association, in the hope that there would be but one seller of that product—an association, however, which was never attained.

Applying to this situation the rule of reason, the supreme court has held that there was nothing in the evidence in the case before it to show that the association had ever engaged in a conspiracy in restraint of trade, arbitrary fixing of prices, or attempts to injure competitors, and that, for all the purposes of that suit, at least, it was a lawful organization, entitled to the protection of the law and the courts.

What was proved in that suit we do not know, but it is unquestionably true, and was presumably shown, that the object of the association had always been identical with that of labor unions to sell collectively at the highest price possible.

In the case of the raisin association, however, it has never been alleged, nor has it ever been true, that it sought in any way to interfere with the sale of non-association raisins, or to destroy its competitors.

That such associations as that among the raisin growers are useful and necessary under modern conditions three can be no doubt. It is gratifying to learn that our supreme court has held them to be lawful.

Whether a federal court would hold in an interstate case that such an association was not a conspiracy in restraint of trade under the first section of the anti-trust act, and an attempt to monopolize, and a monopoly under the second section, cannot be known until such a case arises. Probably it would have to do so—as William J. Bryan did in a speech in Fresno in one of his presidential campaigns—if it upheld the contentions of the government in the great cases recently decided.

But applying the "rule of reason," it would not. Apparently the difference between a good trust and a bad trust lies in unfair interference with competitors, or refraining from it.

It is beginning to dawn upon the public mind that, under modern conditions, free competition will always be destructive competition, resulting in monopoly by the extinction of the weaker, and that it is bad for all. It is believed that the investigations which have been ordered by Congress will result in radical changes in the anti-trust laws which will render impossible in the future the crippling of industry by the destruction of the agencies best fitted to carry it on.

In the particular case just decided there was no question that equity was done. It was a case brought by several hundred raisin growers who had liberally set out for sole purpose of getting all the raisins under one control, in order to get better prices, became members of the association and delivered their raisins to it.

The association made them advances on the basis of the prices which it hoped to get, and tried to get, but did not get. It turned out that the advances made were more than the raisins sold for. The growers refused to return the excess, and the association, or its creditors, sued for the balance. The raisins could not be disposed of, these parties set up the contemptible defense that their own association was an illegal body, incompetent to sue in the courts.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Detwiler in his motion today is seeking to take advantage of the recent decision of the Appellate Court which ordered the dismissal of the indictments against the United Railway of California because of lack of prosecution.

KEMP DUBIOUS ABOUT MARRYING MRS. SINCLAIR

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Harry Kemp, the Kansas poet, named as co-respondent in the suit for divorce which Upton Sinclair has brought against his wife, said today that he did not know whether he and Mrs. Sinclair ever would be married. The poet, who has spent many years in traveling and verve-making, said that he was content with the present situation, which he said would be strengthened in a way that would bring him no harm. The poet said he wondered what they thought of him in Kansas.

The jury found that the child's death was due to homicide and administered by Joseph Brister. The latter is held in the county jail here, under arrest for the alleged murder of the child.

THANKS COURT WHEN SENTENCED TO YEAR

Brady Jones, Cattle Dealer, Must Serve Term in Penitentiary.
W. O. (Brady) Jones, horse and cattle dealer, thanked Judge Austin for leniency yesterday when he was sentenced to imprisonment at San Quentin for one year for passing a worthless check.
Jones drew a $1 check on Smith Bros. in May last, payable at the First National Bank of Coalinga where he had no credit.
Jones pleaded guilty to the charge and sentence had been hanging fire for several weeks to ascertain the truth of a plausible story that he told to the effect that he had ordered funds in a Coalinga bank transferred to meet this check at Coalinga.
The information obtained after some delay was that Brady Jones did not have $50 in deposit in a Coalinga bank but had checked it out long before drawing the $1 check in Coalinga.
Before sentence yesterday, Jones told the familiar court-worn story that he was drunk when he drew the check and had no recollection about the transaction.
A charge of grand larceny against Jones was dismissed. It covered the larceny of $25 in gold from an incubator cabinet while in the Coalinga Calumbeau after arrest for the check transaction. At best only a case of petty larceny could be made out and the complaint cannot be located the dismissal followed.
The appearance of Jones was the second one before Judge Austin. He was a defendant in December, 1929, in the court in a civil action by M. Mathison and P. A. Crocker suing him for the recovery of $380.95 paid him excess as superintendent of a stock ranch. He came in with a counterclaim for $2380.
The judgment went against him $417.35 was recovered against him on execution.

MEXICAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO VAGRANCY

Suspected Murderer of Fern Shelly Is Returned to Local Jail.

Francisco Rameriz, suspected of the murder of Fern Shelly, last January, was brought before Judge Austin yesterday on a charge of vagrancy. Rameriz pleaded not guilty and was returned to jail in default of $25 bail. No date for the trial was set.
The fact that Rameriz was brought into court and given a chance to enter his plea to the petty charge indicates that the police have practically given up the murder case against the man. Detective Goehring investigated the case thoroughly but was unable to find any evidence that would directly connect him with the case or even prove that he was in the vicinity of the Shelly home on the night young Shelly came to his death in his front yard.
The charge of drunkenness was dismissed against A. L. Murray after the magistrate learned that Murray came from the "dry" town of Traver. Pete Shelliwell, who was arrested on a drunkenness charge, was released on a suspended sentence.

FIRE VICTIM PASSES AWAY AT HOSPITAL

Coalinga Barber Succumbs to Blood Poisoning Following Fire.

No close friends or relatives of John M. Curry, who died last Monday night at the county hospital, have yet been located by Deall Bros., undertakers, who have charge of the remains. A telegram has been sent to the secretary of the Barber's Union at Fort Worth, Texas, advising him of the death of Curry, but no answer has been received.
The direct cause of death was due to blood poisoning although Curry was badly injured by jumping out of a two-story window in the Alta rooming house fire at Coalinga last Wednesday. He sustained a compound fracture of the right leg. His condition was not complicated critical until Sunday, when at the county hospital, he rapidly began to sink and died late Monday night. When the first signs of blood poisoning set in the physicians said that they could but were unable to save his life.
Curry lost everything he had in the Coalinga fire and was in a destitute condition at the time of death. Curry was a barber in Coalinga and was a member of the Barber's Union at Fort Worth. The body will be held by Deall Bros. for a few days and if no word is received from relatives the remains will be interred in the potter's field at the expense of the county. Deceased was 46 years of age and a native of Kentucky.

TWO BODIES TAKEN FROM SWISS GLACIER

Supposed to Be Those of Tourists Lost Fourteen Years Ago.
BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 29—Tourists crossing the Lovatzen glacier yesterday saw deep down in the clear ice the faces of two men. The guides climbed out the frozen bodies with their axes and brought them to the surface. The bodies have not been identified, but they probably are those of two London tourists named Deanebeck and Cohn, who disappeared fourteen years ago.

OLEARS TITLE TO THREE CITY LOTS

Testimony Shows That Few Years Would Have Saved Baron Estate From Bankruptcy.
Judgment was given yesterday by Judge Austin quieting title in favor of W. F. Toomey to three lots in city block 35 bought for $1200. The suit was necessary to quieten title because of entanglements in the estates of Thomas H. Mallory, who died in Alameda in December, 1924, and of C. A. Baron, who died in May, 1925. Toomey buying the lots from the Baron estate.
Baron and Mallory were associated in various business dealings and upon their deaths affairs were very much mixed. R. D. Chittenden as public administrator handled both estates and there was much difficulty to determine what belonged to one estate and what to the other, so intermingled were they.
To complicate matters the Baron estate was heavily indebted. Its principal asset consisted of the Trinity Garden which since has become valuable property.
The story as brought out in the case is that if Baron could have lived a few years longer he would have been rich man. Instead, once advanced offer for the property fell through, and in the end it passed to a Los Angeles trust company under foreclosure as the estate could not redeem it.
However to disentangle the estates compromises were agreed to, the Trinity Garden was sold to the Baron estate and the latter the other property on J street to the estate of Mallory, who was an Alaskan miner who came to Fresno with a claim said to have amounted to about $25,000.

HOLD 42 INSANITY CASES SINCE JAN. 1

The frequency of examinations for lunacy during the last few weeks led to an examination of the records yesterday to ascertain how many such cases have been brought to the attention of the authorities. The record at the county clerk's office showed 42 such examinations had since the first of last January. Thirty-four of the examined committed to the asylum at Stockton, seven discharged as not dangerous to be at large or released under watch and one sent to Napa. The cases of late have been more especially of unfortunate temporarily aberrated because of intemperate habits.

BATTERY WARRANT OUT FOR MURRAY

A warrant for the arrest of Jas. J. Murray on a charge of battery was issued yesterday noon by Justice of the Peace Smith. Geo. S. Benton, a former employee of the real estate man, swore to the complaint. The warrant was turned over to Geo. Machen, but was not served yesterday. The complaint was drawn up in the district attorney's office.
The issuing of the warrant is the result of a dispute that Benton and Murray had in the latter's office on Tulare street Monday morning. Benton claims that Murray used force in ejecting him from the office.

FIREMAN ARRESTED FOR NON-SUPPORT

Stopped Wife's Credit and Wrote Her That They Would Be Better Apart.
Mrs. Pearl Dow, accompanied by William Harvey, Sr., of the Humane Society, made application to Judge Graham yesterday for a warrant for any arrest of the infant child with whom she had been supported by her father and mother, with whom she and the child have been living. On the 30th of July he went around to the tradesman who had been supplying them with credit and gave notice not to supply her with any more groceries, and wrote her a letter dated July the 30th that he would not be responsible for any of her accounts, that he would stop all credits in his name. She could have the services of furniture they possessed, adding, "I think we will be much better apart."

CONTRACTS OF SALE PROTECT REALTY MEN

Appellate Court Makes Important Ruling in Fresno County Case.
Real estate brokers will read with interest the decision and opinion of the California Appellate court, rendered yesterday in the case of N. P. Justy & Co. and W. R. Vise against Matias Erro, for the rulings laid down establishing their claims for commissions on sale of real estate.
The decision affirms that of Judge Austin awarding judgment for $2100 as 5 per cent commission under contract in bringing about the sale in August, 1929, to Mrs. Marie Camy of the Borden and Fredland ranches in Madera county, for $26,000. The judgment was given in May, 1929.
It was in evidence that after the written contract with Erro, Justy and one de Roulet made an agreement by which the latter acted as sub agent of Justy in finding a purchaser, sharing equally in the commission. De Roulet it was found a purchaser in Mrs. Camy. When seller and buyer were brought together by him Erro raised his price to $23,000 and finally reduced it to $22,000 for which sum the deal was closed during the life of the Erro contract with Justy.
An important ruling of the appellate court is the following: "Where a contract for the sale of real estate on commission gives the brokers the exclusive right to sell or negotiate the sale of the property for a described period, with the only exception that if the owner himself sell during the life of the agreement to some person to whom the same had been previously submitted by the brokers, the brokers would then be entitled to but one-half of the stipulated commissions, a sale of the property brought about by any other person without the acquiescence of the brokers cannot operate to defeat their right to the maximum commissions."
The opinion enters largely into the general rules of law relating to contracts by which real estate brokers are authorized to sell property for others on commission, and for that reason lawyers say it will be extensively quoted as the latest exposition of the subject.

POLICE WILL ASSIST POUNDMASTER LOWRY

All Unmuzzled Dogs Found on Streets Will Be Taken to Pound.

Acting Police Chief Thomas Coyne last night gave orders to all the patrolmen to start a roundup of all the unmuzzled dogs found on the streets of the city. According to the acting police chief the owners of the canines have been given full warning of the ordinance in regard to the muzzling of dogs and beginning Thursday morning the patrolmen will assist Pound Master Lowry in his work of catching the unmuzzled dogs and taking them to the pound.
Just what method the patrolmen will take in order to capture the dogs, is yet to be decided. According to Coyne the ordinance reads that wire muzzles must be used and all muzzles will be tested without wire muzzles will be treated the same as dogs with no muzzle.

MOTORCYCLIST AND MACHINE COLLIDE

While turning his automobile around in front of his store yesterday morning, Samuel Wormer and a man on a motorcycle collided. Wormer was driving his machine up J street on the right side of the street toward Tulare street. At the corner he turned around so that he could leave his machine in front of the furniture store.
A man on a motorcycle was coming up the street in the same direction and collided with Wormer's car. An argument followed as to who was in the wrong, but everything was finally settled satisfactorily.

TO DEMAND DELIVERY OF TWO KIDNAPERS

Mexicans Charged With Seizing Refugee Escape
Across the Border.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 29.—In order to place in the hands of the federal government the proper papers on which to make a demand on the Mexican government for the return of Jesus Maliz and Miguel Burilla and two other Mexicans, who, it is charged, attempted to kidnap Ambassador Ruiz on last Thursday and turn him over to the Mexican government, District Attorney H. S. Utley this morning took the deposition of Ruiz which will be forwarded to the State Department immediately. Albert Rogers, who lives at Thirty-second and M streets, in whose barn Ruiz was bound and gagged, was arrested this morning as a result.

According to the deposition of Ruiz, the Mexican government is anxious to get hold of him because of his having shown sympathy for the insurgents, while they had him bound and gagged in a wagon and on the way to Tijuana, Lower California, discussed among themselves the reward they would give for his capture. He says they were to be paid $100 each for delivering him to the Mexican authorities at Tijuana. As they neared the line he succeeded in casting off his bonds and leaping from the wagon. The Mexicans, he says, drove on to Tijuana.

CRUISERS SHORT OF NECESSARY MEN

VALLEJO, Calif., Aug. 29.—Inability on the part of the recruiting officers to obtain men for the cruisers now at Mare Island navy yard, threatens to interfere with the sailing schedule scheduled for this fall. Every cruiser at the yard is short handed and the Raleigh and the Cincinnati, ready for sea six months ago, have been held in idleness because of the lack of men. The flagship California is short fifty men in the engine room alone. Unusual efforts are being made to induce men to enlist.

LINEMAN CARRIES 2200 VOLTS AND STILL LIVES

TERRA HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 29.—Frederick Overpeck, a lineman, hung for ten minutes today from a pole with 2200 volts of electricity going through his body and still lives. Overpeck was repairing high tension wires when he came in contact with a live wire. He fell but his safety belt suspended him in the air with the wire touching him. He grasped the wire, was unable to let go and one finger was burned away before the power was shut off and he was let down.

TIME TO CLOSE UP TRUST IS EXTENDED

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The time for depositing stocks and bonds of the American Tobacco Company prior to the closing of the company by the Supreme Court has been extended to September 1st for the stock and September 27th for the bonds. Yesterday was the final day originally set for such deposits, but a conference of the members of the committee appointed to protect the interests of the holders of tobacco company securities agreed on the postponement.

A representative of the stockholders' committee said that about 50 percent of the stock had been deposited and pledged for deposit, and a large amount of bonds. An attorney for the tobacco company is authority for the statement that on Thursday an application probably will be made to the United States Circuit Court for an order directing the American Tobacco Company to list the responsible expenses of the three stockholders' committees.

HATPIN MAY CAUSE DEATH OF A BARBER

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The accidental stab from a hatpin worn by a stylishly dressed woman in a fashionable hotel in this city, has cost Frank Wells, a barber, the loss of one arm and probably will result in his death from blood poisoning. Wells carried a banner in the Eagles' parade last Thursday and after the parade was marching through "Peacock Alley" in the hotel a woman bumped into him and her hatpin pierced his arm. He paid little attention to the wound at the time but became ill last night and was sent to a hospital where the arm was amputated. The surgeon said that Wells had slight chance of recovery.

Greene, was ordered from San Antonio, Tex., to the Canal Zone, near the Pacific entrance, as its permanent station and will sail within a week from Galveston for Colon.

MANY FISHING BANKS OFF ALASKAN COAST

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 29.—The discovery of many new fishing banks in Alaskan waters is reported by persons who arrived from the north on the steamship Albatross today. The Albatross, which spent several months cruising in the north, stopped here long enough to land Captain Burrage and Captain Joyce of this city, who went on the cruise as halibut specialists. She then proceeded to San Francisco.

While in the north, the Albatross cruised along the east coast of Bering Sea, and thence through southwestern and southeastern Alaska waters. The scientists of the vessel report the discovery of many halibut, cod and herring banks, the largest of them being in the vicinity of Kodiak Island.

Off the west coast of Vancouver and Queen Charlotte islands fish were found plentiful. Three weeks were spent by a party of scientists at Chignik Lake investigating locations for fish hatcheries.

SHOULD HAVE WARNED DRIVER OF THE AUTO

Court Finds Man Sitting in Front Seat Guilty of Contributory Negligence.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A decided lonchomancy purveyor to be the lot of automobile drivers out for a pleasure spin with friends, if the Supreme Court of the United States declares at its approaching session to review the case of Charles D. Henderson, who was injured in an automobile accident at Camden, N. J.

The automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad train. When Henderson sued for damages for injuries received in the accident the court held that he, sitting on the front seat with the driver of the automobile, was under a duty to warn the manipulator of the wheel of approaching danger, and not having done so he was guilty of contributory negligence, and hence could not recover from the railroad company.

At the same time it held that a Mrs. Blockson was under no such responsibility because she was sitting in the back seat and so she was awarded damages. Henderson insists that the principle involved in his case is of such importance that the Supreme Court should pass upon it.

ARMY ESTIMATES
NOT INFLATED
Congress Will Be Asked By War Department Only for What Is Actually Needed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The War Department, at least, has learned that Congress cannot be fooled. That branch of the government will make a true declaration to the senate and house as to the exact needs of the army for the next fiscal year and will not inflate any of its estimates on the theory that the appropriating body is bound to curtail them.

This policy, announced today, is at variance with the usual custom of the executive departments in making allowances for the capriciousness of Congress always makes in appropriating money. Seldom, if ever, do the appropriations equal the estimates.

An official declared today that the estimates usually are designed to fool Congress, with the latter invariably refusing to be fooled. The War Department will ask for the aggregate for no more money for the army during the next fiscal year than was actually appropriated for this year. Congress will be informed that this is regarded as the bottom figure from the standpoint of efficiency and with economy in view.

ENGLISHMEN ARRESTED AS SPIES IN GERMANY; RELEASED

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 29.—Two Englishmen and a Dane who for several days have been cruising in the neighborhood of Kiel, were arrested today by the harbor police on the suspicion of spying. The suspects declared their innocence and after undergoing a searching examination by the authorities were released from custody.

The Englishmen said they were respectively a professor and a teacher in a high school, one of them being also the commander of a company of boy scouts.

MORE MONEY NEEDED TO CLEAR THE MAINE

Cofferdam Surrounding the Ruins Will Be Partly Refilled With Water.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—As much of the wrecked battleship Maine as the available funds will permit will be removed or prepared for removal from Havana harbor. It was made known today, and the mammoth cofferdam surrounding the ruins will be refilled with water to await an additional appropriation of congress to finish the work.

Congress failed to act on the President's recommendation for an additional $250,000 and the War Department has mapped out its plans for the expenditure of the money on hand, which probably will be exhausted by the time Congress convenes in December.

Because of the lack of funds, even funeral services over the recovered remains of the dead and the erection in Arlington cemetery of the most of the ill-fated vessel as a monument to their must be postponed. The remains must be stored there until Congress acts.

The terribly wrecked forward part of the vessel, or about two-thirds of it, will be cut down to the levels already reached by the pumpage, then taken out and dumped into deep water outside of Havana harbor. A small cofferdam will be built inside the main cofferdam to a depth of about forty feet around the forward part in order to extricate the rest of it later.

One-third of the after-portion of the vessel, it is believed, can be floated out and dumped out into the bulkhead but not moved pending the appropriation of more money.

Major Geo. L. Erwin of the quartermaster's department has been ordered to Havana to supervise the shipments to the United States of the remains recovered from the Maine. He replaces Captain James Tilford.

NO STANDARD SURPLUS IS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—An official of the Standard Oil company today said regarding the alleged sale of the company under the mandate of the Supreme Court that only the stock of the thirty-three companies affected by the court's decision would be distributed to the stockholders. He said that the large surplus that has stood to the credit of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will not have to be devoted among these companies, because the surplus has never been collected by the parent company.

Only that amount which has been paid out by Standard Oil in dividends has been drawn from the subsidiary companies, according to his authority. And the surplus of this amount is left with the companies so each at the present time has its proper share of the surplus.

Pennsylvania Farmer Seizes Fifty-
Three Birds Despite Great Powers.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Edicts of the governments of England, France and Germany failed to terrify William Hiles, ostrich farmer of Bushmang, Pa., during his latest trip into Africa. The three governments recently issued flat that no ostriches should be taken out of Africa, but Mr. Hiles is in Boston today with fifty-three of the birds, brought to America on the steamer Kansas.

Hiles left the United States a year ago, striking directly for the interior of Africa, where he secured fifty-four ostriches for him by the tribesmen of the desert. His plans went well and the birds were put on board the Kansas at Jibuti secretly. Owing to the fact that it practically was impossible to obtain proof of the big birds in view of the increase in price, they will be taken against their export from Africa. He values the specimens at $15,000 each. Only one ostrich died on the way across the Atlantic.

GIRL BURGLAR LEAPS ACROSS AN AIRSHAF

Wealthy Merchant's Daughter Steals Jewelry From Neighboring Room.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Jeanette Schaefer, 20 years old, daughter of a wealthy leather merchant, who lives in expensive apartments in Fifth avenue, is under arrest today charged with burglary. The police claim that the girl gained access to a neighbor's apartment by jumping across an air shaft four stories above the ground and stole jewelry valued at more than a hundred dollars.

The complaint against Miss Schaefer was drawn by Miss Katherine Silver, a young woman about the same age, who lives in the apartment adjoining the Schaefer's in the next building.

She asserts that at 11 o'clock at night, after she had gone to bed, she heard a noise in the dining room. She called her brother who found that a number of articles of jewelry had been taken from a table near a window. She saw a slim girl leap back across the air-shaft from the window ledge.

RUSSIA HAS BEEN WITHOUT HIGHWAYS

Snow Saves Expense of Roadmaking During Half the Year.

Russia is a roadless land. It is inconceivable to the foreign visitor who has seen the highways of the United States that in Russia a great empire can have so long and so successfully without the competition of the rival states beyond its borders without even a pretense at roads.

The secret, of course, lies in the fact that for five or six months in the year nature herself provides roads over the greater part of the expanse of all the Russian, admirable smooth, glassy roadways over hardworn snow. The traffic is further cheapened over these roads by the substitution of a sledges and runners for wheels and axle. This brings the cost of land carriage as near the cheapness of water borne freight as possible, and it is the principal reason why Russia, in the twentieth century, is still a roadless land.

There are some 4,000 miles of railroads in Russia, and not one-third that figure of metalled roads. The roads are, even more markedly than the railways, which of late have begun to consider economic and commercial needs, strategic roads from the center to the periphery of the empire. It is the intention of the Council of Ministers to set about remedying this defect, and it is hoped to remove it within the next decade. A beginning is to be made with European Russia only, leaving all Siberia, Central Asia, etc., for later. The proportion of local miles of road to square miles of territory, according to the proposals before the Council of Ministers, is to be as one to ten. In France the proportion is one to one, and in the worst provided European country it is not less than one to eight. Therefore Russia is falling far behind the other countries already have, and for the most part have had for many centuries.

To make in ten years the 155,000 miles of roads required is one of those gigantic measures of reform commensurate only to the present settlement of the Russo-Japanese war. The government of Russia is steadily engaged. The money cost of constructing for European Russia alone sufficient roads to provide one lineal mile to ten square miles of territory is estimated at $100,000,000. It is a sum far beyond the capacity of Russia to provide for this purpose in money. But if Russia has not the money she undoubtedly has the men, and these have nowadays plenty of spare time, holidays, etc., so that the eminently practical plan of the Council of Ministers is to get these roads made in the course of the next decade by requiring local labor and resources to give up so much otherwise wasted time to the task, materials being supplied where not found on the spot. It is roughly estimated that not more than half a week a year from every man and horse in rural Russia would provide sufficient labor to complete the scheme without unduly burdening any individual or class. From the London Standard.

LUCY LEE SWOPE ELOPES TO MARRY

Is Niece of Kansas City Millionaire for Whose Death Dr. B. C. Hyde Was Tried.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 29.—Lucy Lee Swope, niece of Col. Thomas H. Swope, the murdered Kansas City millionaire, who has been spending some time in this city, eloped yesterday morning with W. B. Byrne, a former Kansas City business man, who is now a traveling salesman living in Denver. The couple went to Pueblo, where they were married, and returned here last evening.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29.—Lucy Lee Swope, who eloped from Colorado Springs yesterday with W. B. Byrne, was one of the principal witnesses in the trial of Dr. B. C. Hyde last year for the murder of Col. Swope. She was in Europe shortly before an epidemic of typhoid broke out in the Swope family. On her return, Dr. Hyde visited her home, and she was stricken with typhoid soon after her arrival. The prosecution attempted to show that typhoid germs had been administered to her in a cup of water which Dr. Hyde gave her on the train. Mrs. Swope is expected to testify at the second trial of Dr. Hyde here next October.

SANTA ROSA CASE POSTPONED.

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 29.—The hearing of the petition of the Santa Rosa Traffic Association for terminal rates was postponed indefinitely today by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Franklin K. Lane on account of the absence of Attorney Lathrop, who was to have presented the case for the local organization. The matter will be heard later before an examiner.

LIONS KILL DEER

REDDING, Aug. 29.—Sportsmen returning from a hunting trip in Trinity county report the finding of the bodies of 14 deer and fawns killed by mountain lions.

MARION CRAWFORD'S ESTATE VALUED AT $48,000

F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, left an estate valued at $48,000, according to the transfer tax appraiser's report filed in the surrogate's office. The value of the author's rights at the time of his death to profits on his many books by contract with his publishing house is given as $30,343.41. Royalties from the book "The White Sister" amount to $14,000, or half the value of the estate. The book paid the author's estate $14,000 in the first year after his death. Down to June 30, 1910, the royalties for the dramatization of "The White Sister" were $11,500.

The percentage paid the author ran all the way from 11.4 per cent on "The Novel" to 46 per cent on "Casa Braccio." The calculations of the appraiser give the book rights of "The Novel" at the time of the author's death at $8.80, those of "Love in Idleness" at $12, those of "The Palace of the King" at $1,947.36.—New York Sun.

HATHORN WINS IN S. F. BALLOT CASE

Supreme Court Says Numbering of Candidates Would Evade Law.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The Supreme Court, sitting in banc, ordered yesterday that the election commission print the ballots for the coming city election without placing numbers in front of the names of the candidates. The peremptory writ was issued against the commission without even hearing the arguments of the counsel for Ralph Hathorn, candidate for district attorney and the petitioner in the case.

Hathorn claimed that the numbers were a subterfuge to get around the law preventing the use of party names and were part of a scheme to guide ignorant voters. The attorney for the commission argued that the law did not prevent the numbering of contestants, but the court decided in favor of the petitioner off hand.

EARL'S SON DIGS GOLD IN BOLIVIA

Hard to Get Laborers in South America, as Indians Are Shiftless.

Thomas Uchter Caulfield Knox, Viscount Northland, eldest son of the Earl of Banfur, arrived here in the Royal Mail steam packet from Bolivia via the isthmus of Panama on his way to England. The viscount said that he had been gold dredging for eight months on the Beni river, in Bolivia, which was reached by eight days' travel on muleback and three days on a raft from La Paz. "Bolivia is progressing slowly," said Viscount Northland, "and the mining industry is being developed as rapidly as the conditions of the country will permit. The great difficulty there is to get labor, as the Indians would sooner fish and shoot game than to work for their means of subsistence. All provisions are either carried into the interior on mules or water borne by rafts, and the rubber is brought to the coast in the same primitive manner. The Leco Indians, on the Beni river, are expert raftmen, and handle all the merchandise transported through their country. The food is very poor, and fresh meat is unknown, the only kind being the chichona dried beef, which is cut into strips when the steer is killed and hung on trees in the sun to dry.

"There is full of revolutionary talk, and there may be trouble there, judging from what I heard in Calcutta." Viscount Northland served from 1900 to 1906 in the Coldstream Guards, and is a member of the Guards, Bachelors, and White clubs in London. He is 28 years old, single, more than 6 feet tall, slim, but muscularly built, with fair hair and a beard that has evidently been grown in Bolivia during his mining experience. This is his first visit to this country, and he said that the harbor and all city buildings fully realized his expectations, formed from what his friends had told him. The viscount said that he had not even heard in Bolivia of the coronation.—From the New York Times.

ACTOR FALLS INTO GLACIER; BADLY HURT

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Aug. 29.—George Perkins, member of a theatrical troupe playing here, was dangerously injured yesterday when he fell sixty feet into a crevasse in the Denver Glacier. The troupe to which Perkins belongs went on an excursion to the glacier yesterday and all climbed over the ice. When Perkins fell he became wedged in the crevasse about sixty feet down. The expedition then made a run back to Skagway to get ropes and assistance. Perkins was alive when removed but it is feared that his injuries will prove fatal.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—An order that will eliminate from the mails absolutely the Red Cross stamps, because on their faces they are called "stamps," was issued today by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The use of such stamps on the obverse side of letters was forbidden. Serious inconvenience in handling the mails from particular localities has been experienced by the postal authorities on account of the increasing use of adhesive stamps.

Instructions From Head

Office.

Acting upon instructions from the Postoffice Department at Washington, D. C., every piece of second class mail handled in the Fresno postoffice between August 26 and September 1 is being counted. This is the first time in the history of the local post office that the second class mail, exclusively, has been counted. It is presumed that the count is being made all over the country so that a report can be made to the committee which was appointed by Congress to investigate the rate charged on second class mail, which is claimed to be insufficient to cover the cost of handling.

Every second class package, whether it contains one or a dozen magazines is counted as one and in this manner the local employees are keeping a record of all second class matter that passes through the local post office.

A HARD-WORKING HOUSE

The Democratic House has done splendid work. It has refuted the House rules denigrated the czar and proved that better business can be done without a speaker-hoss than with. It has passed reciprocity, the wool bill, the cotton bill, the free-ill bill, direct election, campaign publicity legislation and the Arizona New Mexico bill. It is an excellent program, and the best thing about it is that it has proved that the House is capable of deliberating and can actually contribute something if it has chance. Cannonism proves to have been far more blight than its most ardent opponents realized.—Success Magazine.

THE LUCKY THIRTEENTH

A woman who sets particular store by the thirteen superstition surprised her friends by accepting an invitation to a luncheon when there were only thirteen guests.

"I will be safe," she said, "for shall make it a point to be the thirteenth person to enter the room. This is funny thing about thirteen. Many accidents have happened to companies of thirteen in number, but investigation has shown that while the other twelve persons suffered more or less, the thirteenth person who joined the party always escaped unharmed."

THE LOST ARCADE.
What is the road to Arcady?
I went there once, God knows.
The leaves were dancing in the path
Now covered by the snows.
What is the road to Arcady?
The road is right before you.

I loved my life in Arcady.

"When did I leave, and why?
Summer was always in the air,
Blue always 'doomed' the sky."
What was the road from Arcady,
I took with careless eye?

There still are roads to Arcady,
But is there one for me?
I should have blazed the path I can
On every wayside tree.

Take me with you to Arcady,
Young eyes that still can see.

Metropolitan.

LOCAL BREVITIES

J. A. Cummings and R. Mullins were arrested in Chinatown last night by P. J. McMahon and charged with disturbing the peace. The men were engaged in a fist fight when arrested.

Answering a call that a man had been shot in the alley between N. and streets on Culbreth street, Acting Sergeant McCull and Patrolman Hardwick found that the three men had been quarreling in the alley but after a shot was fired two of the men ran down the alley and the third towards the Santa Fe depot. The officers searched in the vicinity, but were unable to find any suspicious looking characters.
